

BILTMORE®

Fact Sheet

As America's Largest Home®, the Biltmore in Asheville, North Carolina lets visitors travel back to the 19th century as a guest of the established Vanderbilt family. As one of the most influential families of the Gilded Age, George and Edith Vanderbilt constructed the Biltmore in 1865 after visiting North Carolina and becoming fascinated by its breathtaking, natural beauty. Every year, the Biltmore welcomes over 1.4 million guests to the family's "little mountain escape." With a commitment to preservation and environmental self-sufficiency, the Biltmore Company conserves the striking property while maintaining the historical authenticity of America's largest privately-owned home.
