

8.22 JSU Kiwibots Pitch

Subj: Jacksonville State University launches robot delivery service on campus.

Jacksonville State University is the newest home to Dex the Kiwibot — a small yet mighty delivery service robot with a mission to feed hungry Gamecocks powered by Sodexo North America. JSU is the first in Alabama to welcome the fleet of 30 to the campus's growing dining services team with the start of this fall semester. With Kiwibots, students and faculty can order at their favorite campus restaurants and expect an eager Dex ready for the perfect delivery.

With dining options such as MrBeast Burgers, Pardon My Cheesesteak and more, Dex is now an honorary Gamecock with a hunger for serving friendly faces.

I'd love to have you out on campus to see these robots in action, delivering food to students. I can also connect you with a University representative for interviews to talk about this innovative technology, serving students.

Kindly,
